Happy New Year!! A bright, shiny new year which we at Home Again hope will bring you your heart's desires. Hope for all the dogs and cats that will be helped into forever homes, and another good year for the ones who are already home.

As always, thank you for reading this newsletter and for supporting the work that we do at Home Again. It is appreciated more than you can imagine!

Hunter's Corner

As Hunter has become more healthy, we have been giving him more liberties within the home. In December we had several social events outside of the home, and we decided to leave him alone to see how he did solo.

This picture shows you what our front door looked like the first time we left him alone. He took most of our shoes from the side door and moved them to the front! They weren't chewed, weren't harmed, just moved.

We suspect he thinks if he "hides" our shoes, we won't go away without him again!! Silly pup!

Cats and Kittens Available for Adoption

Wouldn't you like an independent kitty who only wants affection on her own terms? This is Skittles, a four month old grey and white tabby who is a short-haired female. Skittles would prefer NOT to be cuddled — none of that mushy stuff for her!! She is sweet and comical and wants to be close, but no laps for this girl!

Take another look at Patch! Patch is a male kitten ready for his black and white tuxedo debut at a formal gathering. Patch eats grain-free food and is a medium haired kitty about 6 months old. He is a sweet kitten looking for someone to chillax while watching Netflix!

This is Rusty, a female tortoiseshell who is about a year old. She is calm and quiet and would love her own blanket. And human. Bring her a human!

Dogs Available for Adoption

Take another look at sisters Shylla and Milly, 11 year old female Pug/Terrier crosses who are 12 lbs each. Although they're Golden Girls, little dogs like these ladies can easily live to their mid-teens or more. They are both lively and healthy; they're very loving little dogs who will quickly love their new families.

The girls may bark a bit at other dogs, but are more likely to stay by their human rather than show aggressive. Shylla is the more independent of the two and is won over by belly rubs. Milly is the pleaser of the sisters.

Both are house trained and love their crate.

The adoption fee for these sisters is $600. They have been spayed, their vaccinations are up to date and they have been microchipped.

Happy Tales

Take a look at this sweet face — this is Dexter, a Pomeranian/papillon cross who is about 10 years old and who was adopted in the summer of 2021.

Dexter's human lives in a pet friendly Senior's Residence. He is not only loved by his owner, but also by the other residents who eagerly look forward to his visits in the Residence's common room. This sweet boy is bringing happiness to a group of people!

This is Millie. Milly has just celebrated her 2nd birthday and was adopted by a family who came all the way from Niagara to take her home!

Millie came from a breeder and had never had a house to call her own. She changed from a timid little dog who was afraid to leave her crate to a confident, sassy pup!

Thanks as well to Anne, a first time foster who helped Millie blossom!
